Information Flow

Give On-Line Information Flow Diagram

1. The individual identifies the charitable organization they wish to contribute to and then provides pertinent information such as name and e-mail address, the amount of financial contribution, and any credit card information if applicable.
2. The donation information is then submitted in a secure communications session to the GIVE ON-LINE Server.
3. A GIVE ON-LINE transaction receipt is generated and communicated back to the individual. A receipt is also communicated to the individual's e-mail address.
4. & 5. GIVE ON-LINE processes the individual's donation/pledge information. Depending on the information provided and the capabilities of the receiving non-profit organization, Give On-Line forwards the donation information to the organization via mail, fax, e-mail, or on-line processing via CyberCash directly to the non-profit's financial institution.

If you have any questions about this process, please e-mail us by clicking the e-mail button at the bottom of this page.
